Proto-Indo-European <*ḱer(h₁)-> "to grow, to increase"
Proto-Indo-European <*ḱreh₁eh₂yé-ti> "to make grow"
Proto-Indo-European <*ḱreh₁sḱé-ti> "to be growing"
Proto-Indo-European <*ḱorwo> "growing"
Proto-Indo-European <*ḱeres-s> "growthful?"
Proto-Indo-European <*ḱer-mn̥> "grown"
Proto-Indo-European <*sem-ḱer->
Italic <*krēāō>
Latin creō "I create, I give birth to, I prepare, I choose"
Western Romance
French créer "to create"
Italian creare "to create, to appoint, to set up"
Spanish criar "to rear (a child)"
Portuguese criar
Portuguese cria "one who is raise, offspring, kid, ward"
Portuguese crioulo "someone raised in the colonies, creole"
Spanish criollo "someone raised in the colonies, creole"
English creole
Spanish crear "to create"
Latin creātus "created, begotten, chosen"
English create
Italic <*krēskō>
Latin crēscō "I increase, I thrive, I become visible"
Sardinian creschi
Eastern Romance
Romanian crește "grow, increase, raise, cultivate"
Western Romance
French croître "to grow"
Italian crescere "to grow"
Spanish crecer "to grow"
Latin accrēscō
Western Romance
French accroître "to increase"
French accrû "increased"
English accrue
Italian accrescere "to increase"
Spanish acrecer "to increase"
Latin accrētiō "increment"
English accretion
Latin concrēscō "I thicken, condense, curdle, stiffen, congeal"
Latin concrētus "condensed, thick, hardened, solid"
English concrete
Latin dēcrēscō
Western Romance
French décroître "to decrease"
English decrease
Latin incrēscō "I grow in, I swell"
Western Romance
Old French encroistre "to increase"
Anglo-Norman encreistre "to increase"
English increase
Italian increscere "to regret"
Latin incrēmentum "growth, development, increment"
English increment
Latin crēscēns "increasing, thriving, becoming visible"
Western Romance
French croissant "crescent, crescent moon, croissant"
English crescent
English croissant
Italian crescente "growing, rising, waxing (moon)"
Italian crescente "sourdough"
Spanish creciente "crescent of a waxing moon, increasing"
Latin crēscendus "that which is to increase, that which is to become visible"
Western Romance
Italian crescendo "growing, increasing"
English crescendo
Japanese クレッシェンド <kuresshendo> "crescendo"
Spanish crescendo "crescendo"
Spanish creciendo "growingly"
Hellenic <*kórwā>
Mycenaean Greek <ko-wa> "girl, maiden"
Ancient Greek κόρη <kórē> "girl, maiden"
Greek kóri "daughter, girl, kore (statue)"
English kore
Ancient Greek Κόρη <Kórē> "Cora, Persephone."
Hellenic <*kórwos>
Mycenaean Greek <ko-wo> "boy, youth"
Ancient Greek κόρος <kóros> "boy, youth"
English kouros
Germanic <*hirsaz>
Germanic <*hirsijô>
North Germanic
Old Norse
Danish hirse "millet"
Icelandic hirsi "millet"
Finnish hirssi "millet"
West Germanic
Old High German hirso "millet"
German Hirse "millet"
Yiddish הירזש <hirzh> "millet"
Italic <*kerēs>
Latin Cerēs "Goddess of Bounty and Agriculture"
English Ceres
Latin Cerealis "of Ceres"
French céréale "cereal"
English cereal
Old Armenian սերմն <sermn> "seed, berry, bud, progeny, race"
Armenian սերմ <serm> "seed"
Italic
Latin sincērus "clean, sound, uninjured, natural, sincere"
Eastern Romance
Romanian sincer "sincere"
Western Romance
French sincère "sincere"
English sincere
Italian sincero "sincere, honest"
Spanish sincero "sincere, honest"